

Ohio Revised Code

Section 2307.77 Product conforming to representation made by manufacturer.

Effective: January 5, 1988

Legislation: House Bill 1 - 120th General Assembly

A product is defective if it did not conform, when it left the control of its manufacturer, to a representation made by that manufacturer. A product may be defective because it did not conform to a representation even though its manufacturer did not act fraudulently, recklessly, or negligently in making the representation.
