

Ohio Administrative Code Rule 3337-12-22 Student address and location.

Effective: April 1, 2025

(A) Overview

It is important to know where students are living for emergency purposes.

Additionally, when offering educational opportunities outside of Ohio, whether by distance education or courses such as internships, clinicals, practica, and student teaching, the university must comply with applicable state and federal regulations. Current regulations require an institution to be authorized by a state where the institution is not physically located when delivering education to students who reside within that state.

Universities offering programs leading to, or that could be assumed to lead to, professional licensure are required to notify students as to the applicability of the education being delivered to the various state professional licensure education requirements. Compliance with these state, federal, and other regulations relating to state authorization and licensure is critical to allowing the university to fulfill its mission as a public research university.

(B) Applicability

This policy applies to all students enrolled in credit-bearing coursework at Ohio university, regardless of campus, modality, or level.

(C) Definitions

(1) Distance education is education that uses one or more technologies (e.g., internet, communications devices, audio or video conferencing) to deliver instruction to students who are separated from their instructor and to support regular substantive interaction between students and the instructor, either synchronously or asynchronously (per 34 CFR 600.2).

(a) Distance education program is a certificate or degree program in which fifty per cent or more of the courses may be taken as distance education courses.

(b) Distance education course is a course in which at least seventy-five per cent of the instruction and interaction occurs using one or more of the technologies listed in the definition of distance education, with the faculty and students physically separated from each other.

(2) Location is defined as the state/territory where a student is located while receiving instruction. The student's location may differ from the student's state of legal "residence," that is the place where they are registered to vote or hold a driver's license (per 34 CFR 668.43). Additionally, a student's location for the purposes of receiving instruction may be different from their address.

(3) Out-of-state learning refers to the distance education courses or programs and field experiences such as, but not limited to, clinical rotations, internships or student teaching outside of the state of Ohio. Courses such as independent studies, test prep, dissertation or thesis credits, or correspondence courses do not fall under these regulations as there is no regular or substantive interaction with the university or other designee.

(E) Determination of student location

OHIO determines the location of a student for the purposes of providing accurate professional licensure disclosures and reporting. The office of the university registrar oversees the procedures for determining a student's location.

OHIO will determine a student's location (state):

- (1) After a student's initial application to an educational program that leads to professional licensure or when a student changes their major to a new licensure program;
- (2) At the time of initial enrollment in the licensure program;
- (3) Each semester a student is registered for classes while enrolled in a licensure program; and
- (4) when a student who is enrolled in a licensure program officially changes any of the addresses used in determining their location.

Ohio will determine a student's location based on:

- (5) Whether the student is registered for classes;
- (6) Which classes the student is registered for and if those classes are distance education; and
- (7) The student's addresses.

(F) Application and use of data/information

Address information will be used as indicated by university policy, 12.020 student records. This section includes some specific examples of how the current living address may be used.

The student's current living address may be used for emergency purposes such as needing to locate a student or identify all students living in a certain vicinity.

A portion of the collected student address data (i.e., location) is reported annually to the national council for state authorization reciprocity agreements (NC-SARA) as part of the university's participation agreement. It is important to note that no individually identifiable student data is reported in this annual update.

For purposes of compliance with applicable federal regulations such as professional licensure regulations and state authorization agreements, student location and/or information from current living address may be used for notifications and reporting.
