

Ohio Administrative Code

Rule 3361:50-43-11 Librarians: medical center libraries: categories of library users.

Effective: June 17, 1998

(A) Primary: this category includes the faculty, staff, and students of the medical center. They have full access to the libraries' information resources, which includes circulation privileges and on-site and remote access to electronic resources, and to the libraries' services, including reserve materials and document delivery.

(B) Secondary: this category includes non-medical center university of Cincinnati students, faculty, and staff, and the students, faculty, and staff of "OhioLINK" institutions. They have access to the information resources and services when in accord with policies of the particular service.

(C) Other:

(1) The general public, businesses, and organizations have access to the libraries' facilities and resources on site. Library memberships may be purchased by individuals and groups to access all or most services and resources. Businesses and organizations may also gain access to resources and services through contractual arrangements.

(2) Individuals who are not university of Cincinnati students, faculty, and staff, but who are in some way affiliated may be granted temporary privileges at the discretion of the librarian. At times, a program or course is offered in community institutions that may be affiliated with the medical center, or the instructor may be from the medical center. This may also include certain categories of alumni and donors.
