

Ohio Administrative Code Rule 5120-9-22 Transfer of violators.

Effective: May 15, 2004

(A) When the parole board or any hearing officer assigned to the parole board revokes an offender's release or imposes a new prison term on an offender, a copy of the order revoking the violator's release or imposing the new prison term upon the violator will be forwarded to the receiving reception center.

(B) As soon as practical after receiving the inmate, the reception center will classify the inmate and forward all pertinent information to the bureau of classification and reception. The bureau of classification and reception will determine the inmate's security level and parent institution.
