

Ohio Revised Code

Section 1333.81 Confidentiality of information.

Effective: January 1, 1974

Legislation: House Bill 511 - 109th General Assembly

No employee of another, who in the course and within the scope of his employment receives any confidential matter or information, shall knowingly, without the consent of his employer, furnish or disclose such matter or information to any person not privileged to acquire it.
